A diorama depicting a sugar plantation. In the background, a stone wall features a large sack labeled 'SUGAR' and another smaller one labeled 'SUGAR CANE SUGAR'. To the right, a waterfall flows down a stone structure. Several figures in white and brown clothing are engaged in various activities: one is pouring liquid from a large container into a pipe, another is holding a large white bag, and others are near sacks. The scene is set against a backdrop of rocky terrain and greenery.

A golden lantern with a glass enclosure sits on a grey tiled roof. A large, jagged hole has been made in the roof tiles directly beneath the lantern, revealing a dark interior. Debris is scattered around the hole. The scene is set against a dark, overcast sky.
