

National Partnerships Manager

Permanent Full time, 38 hours per week

Ordinary hours worked between: 8:30am to 5:30pm
Monday to Friday.

Salary range: $100k to $130k + 10.5% superannuation

Deakin Office, Canberra (or remote considered)

The Role

The RSPCA is one of Australia's most loved and trusted charities. RSPCA Australia, the federal body of the RSPCA, is seeking an experienced Partnerships Manager to work with our corporate partners and the state and territory RSPCA organisations.

The National Partnerships Manager's key responsibilities are focused on generating income for the RSPCA federation through partnerships, with the main focus being our workplace giving program, but also including sponsorship and licensing, grants, philanthropy and major donation avenues. The role works closely with our colleagues in the state and territory RSPCA member Societies.

The marketing team is based in Canberra in the RSPCA Australia office in Deakin, however, working from home will be considered.

A full position description is available at: <https://www.rspca.org.au/about-us/join-our-team>

The Person

Our ideal candidate is responsible, proactive, confident, friendly, empathetic, collaborative, highly organised, able to prioritise and comes with a proven track record of cultivating internal and external relationships. You are also skilled and motivated to meet KPIs.

You will be part of a committed and vibrant team of people who gain personal satisfaction from knowing that they are contributing to preventing cruelty to animals through actively promoting their care and protection.

The National Partnerships Manager should be proficient in the use of Microsoft Office products, in particular Outlook, Teams and SharePoint. You will be comfortable in working with a CRM to ensure good record-keeping and will keep senior management informed of various projects and opportunities.

About RSPCA Australia

The National Office of the RSPCA is based in Deakin, Canberra. It provides a focus for all the State and Territory RSPCA organisations in the more strategic areas of influence on animal welfare - particularly in working with the Federal Government and other national organisations or companies that rely on RSPCA Approved certification.

Benefits of Working with RSPCA Australia

As you might expect, the RSPCA is an organisation of people committed to animal welfare and this flows through into the type of workplace we all work hard to create - one that is supportive, challenging and friendly - and one driven by strong values of compassion, courage, integrity, knowledge and tenacity. We work hard to protect animals and meet the needs of our stakeholders, but we don't put unreasonable pressure on ourselves to meet meaningless demands or targets. We are a great group of people!

And of course, we have dogs in the office.

How to Apply

Applications must be submitted via our website <https://www.rspca.org.au/about-us/join-our-team>

To apply, send us your detailed Resume and up to date Contact Details, but to make it easier for us, include a Covering Letter or some other document that gives us more specific information about the following:

- The extent of your experience in working in corporate engagement, particularly in the fundraising and marketing area. We are particularly keen to hear if you have driven workplace giving programs.
- Whether you have managed direct reports
- What is attracting you to apply for this role with the RSPCA Australia

If you are short-listed for an interview - either face to face or by telephone - we will ask you for the best referees you have that are available and able to describe you at work.

Further Information

You don't need to talk to the Contact Officer to apply for this role, but if you have specific questions that are not covered by the information above, call Jenny Hodges on our general office number or send an email to recruitment@rspca.org.au
