Thanks for signing up to receive updates from Cats Protection

Dear Dot,

Thanks for signing up to hear updates from Cats Protection.

Over the next few weeks we'll send you some information about the charity and the kitties that cat lovers like you have supported us to help. We'll tell you how we've been "Speaking up for cats" by campaigning for change in national and local government and how supporters and volunteers have done amazing things to help cats in need. On top of that we'll share some useful tips and advice about cats and their care, such as

How to read your cat's body language

Hi Dot,

At Cats Protection one of our aims is to help people to better understand cats. Unfortunately, cats are a very misunderstood species, even by those that love them. By fully understanding cats, we can ensure that we are meeting all their welfare needs.

Cats are very subtle in their body language so it can be difficult to 'read' how they're feeling. But by spending a bit of time watching your cat's facial expressions, body postures, vocalisations and how they interact with their environment, you can start to understand what they are trying to communicate. It can improve your relationship with your cat too!

Here's a quick guide to some common feline body postures and visual cues:

Belly up! It's a greeting behaviour and means they trust you.

1. Social roll
Your cat may do this as a greeting behaviour when you approach them – it doesn't mean they want you to rub their tummy though! Most cats would prefer to be greeted by stroking their head or cheeks instead.

They're leaving a scent to remind themselves it's a safe place.

Results:

- Government took action against the sale of sick and underage kittens
- Following that victory, Cats Protection returned to Care2 with an even bigger goal of recruiting 85,000

68 new volunteers and
130 new event
participants recruited

Over 700 new cash
donors

Over 1000 new regular givers (and growing!)

40,000 e-letters to
MPs sent

1.2% conversion to RG
+ 0.8% conversion to cash giver

Case study 2: Animal Aid UK

- Goals:
 - New donors, regular givers and members
- Leads / petition signatures generated:
 - 7,192 in three weeks
- Performance:
 - 10% conversion rate online of our Care2 leads in the first 4 months

Recycled leads multi-channel digital:

Campaign strategy:

- Run 2022 International Women's Day appeal, to both donors and supporters.
- Re-engage 3 years of past signatories and subscribers and convert them to donors.
- Digital first campaign, with EMAIL as the primary channel.

The process

Leverage SMS and email

Test straight to donation

Test lead generation

Divide database into 5 key segments

Drive donations with dollar match

Sent 2nd wave of communications in line with Commission on the Status of Women (CSW) conference

Recycle leads:

GREENPEACE

Re-call non-contact after 3 or 6 months

Text ahead of calling

- Knocks out about 25%
- Reduces phone rejection
- Saves the cost of the telephone call
- Pulls out hard bounces - improving dialing efficiency

Disengaged AKA Re-Recycled

GREENPEACE

12 months after Recycled

Selections:

The cohort is still in testing phase:

- Non-contacts OR recycled AND no further actions

- 3 SMS journey:
 - A thank-you (with a vid link)
 - A survey
 - A reciprocity piece
- Assess engagement
- Aim to build a call file around 25% of selection

Negatives

- Less donations than hoped on campaign 1

Positives

- Big open and click rate
- No un-subscribes & not marked as SPAM
- Still a cheap method to build a database
- Staying front of mind so hopes will engage on emergencies down the track...
- Still incorporate the asset into other campaigns & social media ads
- Collect phone numbers from donations to use in conversion to regular giving

DIGITAL NINJAS

Consider contact rates

- Email has a low open rate
- Telemarketing has around 47% answer rate
- SMS has about 100% open rate
- Consider WhatsApp

Structure messaging

- Relevant custom audiences
- Differing journeys
- Onboard to the cause – explain the need before talking on how people can assist

What is the best email journey for a charity?

The best email journey for a charity depends on the charity's goals and the preferences of its audience. However, there are some general tips that can help make an effective email journey for a charity:

1. Start with a welcome email: As soon as someone signs up to receive emails from your charity, send them a welcome email. Thank them for their interest and introduce them to your organization's mission and work.
2. Personalize your emails: Use the subscriber's name and other relevant information to make your emails feel more personal.
3. Segment your email list: Divide your email list into different segments based on their interests, demographics, and other relevant factors. This will allow you to send more targeted messages.
4. Tell stories: Share stories of the people or communities that your charity helps. Make your emails emotional and inspiring, while also being informative.
5. Use a clear call-to-action: Make sure each email has a clear call-to-action, whether it's to donate, volunteer, or take some other action to support your cause.
6. Use email automation: Use email automation tools to send timely and relevant messages to your subscribers based on their behavior and interests.
7. Follow up: After someone takes action, follow up with them to thank them and let them know how their support is making a difference.

Remember, the key to a successful email journey for a charity is to build relationships with your subscribers and keep them engaged with your cause.
